

FY22 Community Population Report

Numbers as of June 30, 2022

During the past fiscal year, the Covid-19 pandemic continued to impact the probation and parole population. As Idaho moved out of the acute phase of the pandemic, the community population decreased. Releases exceeded admissions in both the probation and parole populations. The smaller community population can be attributed at least in part to an increase in the incarcerated population, as admissions to rider and term increased compared to FY2021 while successful discharges remained relatively constant.

¹New Commitments Direct to Parole: Individuals who come to Idaho from another state for the purpose of supervision.

²Retained Jurisdiction (Rider): Individuals whom the court has retained jurisdiction over sentenced to a period of incarceration in an IDOC facility. The IDOC assesses riders to determine their needs and places them in the appropriate facilities to receive intensive programming and education. Upon completion of a rider, the court determines whether to place the resident on probation or sentence them to term.
