Who We Are

At the Idaho Department of Correction One Stop Reentry Center we have experienced staff eager to assist you with your transition to the community. They will help you access services and equip you with resources to help you be successful.

We know it's hard for citizens to return to the community after a period of incarceration. For many individuals it means starting over. We are here to help connect you to the resources in our community during this transition period.

Our Goals

Reduce recidivism by forming strong bonds with community partners to help returning citizens reconnect with the community. We work alongside Correctional Case Managers and Parole & Probation officers to offer support in developing and sustaining a strong release plan.

We are here to help anyone coming out of prison or jail needing assistance to reenter the community.
