In the State of Idaho
each victim of a criminal offense shall be:

Treated with fairness, respect, dignity and privacy throughout the criminal justice process.

Permitted to be present at all court proceedings.

Entitled to a timely disposition of the case.

Given prior notification of proceedings and, upon request, given information about the sentence, incarceration, placing on probation or release of the defendant.

Heard, upon request, at all criminal justice proceedings considering a plea of guilty, sentencing, incarceration, placing on probation or release of the defendant.

Afforded the opportunity to provide a victim impact statement.

Notified whenever the defendant or suspect is released or escapes from custody.

WE CAN HELP

Prison and Parole Victim service providers help victims of record keep informed during incarceration and parole. We can help you register for important notifications, track inmate housing changes, and enforce no contact and restitution orders during the prison sentence. We can notify you of parole hearing dates, and provide support at parole hearings. We can answer your questions about prison and parole.
